

Information regarding the processing of personal data in the context of Microsoft Forms surveys

We occasionally conduct surveys to obtain feedback on our services and business relationships in order to improve our services. Participation in these surveys is always voluntary and generally anonymous. In particular, no reference to your person is made via the provided link. It is also not possible for us to draw any conclusions about your person through the technically necessary processing of your IP address.

Only if you voluntarily provide personal information in the survey or if we request personal information on a case specific basis, will we process the following data:

- Name
- E-mail address
- IP address
- Timestamp start and end of survey entry
- Individual details in free text fields

The processing of the mentioned categories of data is carried out for the purpose specified in the respective survey. The processing serves to protect legitimate interests (Art. 6 para. 1 f) GDPR).

The results of the survey are only visible to the creator of the survey and the other persons specified in the respective survey.

After a survey has been completed and the need for storage no longer exists, all personal data of the participants will be deleted.
