Aachen, Germany, August 2026 – FEV Consulting has once again been recognized among the world's leading management consulting firms. The company has been included in the World's Best Management Consulting Firms 2026 ranking by Forbes and Statista. The recognition highlights FEV Consulting's international consulting expertise and underscores its successful expansion as a global partner for technology-driven transformation.

This latest distinction adds to a series of prestigious international recognitions. Earlier this year, FEV Consulting was also named to the America's Best Management Consulting Firms 2026 ranking by Forbes and Statista. Previously, the company was included in Forbes' global rankings in 2022 and 2023. Its renewed inclusion reaffirms FEV Consulting's position as an internationally recognized management consulting firm.

"Being recognized once again by Forbes and Statista reinforces our commitment to helping organizations around the world navigate complex transformation with a unique combination of strategic expertise, deep technological understanding, and execution excellence," said Alexander Nase, Global Managing Director of FEV Consulting.

FEV Consulting supports organizations worldwide in transforming their business models, products, and operations. The company combines strategic consulting with the deep technology and engineering expertise of the FEV Group, enabling customers to master the defining transformation challenges of our time—from decarbonization, software-defined products, and artificial intelligence to advanced robotics and the development of resilient mobility, energy, and industrial systems.

The annual World's Best Management Consulting Firms ranking published by Forbes and Statista is based on independent surveys of industry experts and clients. Firms are evaluated on criteria including professional expertise, industry knowledge, and client recommendations.

"This recognition is first and foremost a testament to the outstanding work of our teams around the world and the trust our clients place in us. It motivates us to continue our international growth journey and support organizations with innovative, technology-driven consulting services that enable successful transformation and strengthen their long-term competitiveness," Nase added.
